Dear Dean;

Greetings from the Philippines! Saint Louis University is hosting the 5th International Conference on Qualitative Research in Nursing, Health and Social Sciences on March 5-6, 2020 at the Supreme Hotel, Baguio City, Philippines. The targeted participants are 400-500 professionals, researchers and students (undergraduate and graduate students).

In our desire to increase research collaborations with international academic partners and to extend the opportunities for research dissemination and educational interaction with research experts, we would like to invite your institution as a co-convenor to this international conference.

As a co-convenor, you are expected to send a minimum of 5 participants to the conference who are expected to send research abstracts for presentation during the conference, help disseminate relevant information about the conference to the other universities in your country, and to prepare a cultural presentation per country for the cultural night. Other optional support, if interested, are advertisement of your university in the conference souvenir program, and participating as a facilitator or moderator in the concurrent research presentations.

It will be greatly appreciated if you confirm your interest as co-convenor and send a copy of your university logo on or before January 22, 2020 so we can include your institution in the updated conference poster, flier and website information about the conference. Likewise, we advise you to bring your national flag to be paraded and placed at the conference venue.

We are looking forward to your valuable contributions to the success of this international conference.

Please find attached a copy of the program of activities, call for abstract and information about the registration. Information about the advertisement for the conference souvenir journal is also attached if interested.

Thank you!

Respectfully,
